

Australian Flow Chemistry Symposium

Why become a sponsor

- Brand exposure – the Australian Flow Chemistry Symposium will be the first meeting of its kind in Australia and will cover a range of industrially relevant applications such as in the manufacture of pharmaceuticals, fine chemicals, polymers and related materials
- Face-to-face conversation with key decision makers and people with the buying power
- Direct interaction with scientists, researchers and professionals eager to source products and equipment to help them in their research
- Establish new business relationships or build on existing ones
- Generate real time leads for business growth
- Build brand awareness and recognition to a targeted audience
- Brand alliance – align your brand with CSIRO cutting edge research, technology and critical research
- Showcase your products and services to your target audience where your target audience is keen to learn and receptive to new ideas
- Prominent exposure on the official conference website
- Include your logo and company profile in our conference program

2 and 3 of December 2019
